

LOOKS LIKE A GIRL

Mrs. Dowdle Tells About the Case of Her Daughter and Herself, Both Made Young by Cardui.

Canton, Tex.—"I have used Cardui, the woman's tonic, for many years. I am never without it. It cured me of serious trouble."

"My daughter was also down sick, after a mishap, and I thought she would never be well. But I got her to take Cardui, and it cured her."

"She is thirty-five years old and stout, and looks like a girl."

"I have recommended Cardui to many other women, and it has cured them."

As a tonic for weak women, you could find nothing of greater benefit to you than Cardui. It is a woman's tonic—a strengthening medicine for women, made especially for women, from ingredients that act specifically on the womanly organs, and thus help to build up the womanly constitution.

You are urged to try Cardui if you are weak, tired, worn-out, or suffer from any of the pains peculiar to weak women, such as headache, backache, dragging pains, pains in arm, side, hip or limbs, and other symptoms of womanly trouble.

Cardui is what you need whenever you feel that you need a tonic.

Try Cardui.

Social and Personal.

MISS NANCY PATTON was introduced to Richmond society last night by two handsome entertainments. Mrs. Patton's married friends called in the afternoon from 5 to 7 o'clock and the younger set was entertained at 9 o'clock at a beautiful reception. Miss Patton's debut is of special interest to Richmond society, people, who recall the days of her mother's bellehood, not only here, but at the Greenbrier White Sulphur Springs, and a great deal of informal entertaining will be done in her honor.

The hall was banked with yellow chrysanthemums and smilax. In the drawing-room the walls were also draped in smilax, and vases of pink roses were used in the decorations.

Mrs. Patton, wearing an imported gown of pale green with a bouquet of pink roses, received with her daughter. Miss Patton wore an exquisite frock of white satin with garniture of silver and pearls, and carried pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Thomas H. Leary, gowned in gray, assisted her sister in receiving the guests. Mrs. Josiah Ryland, in black spangled net, served punch.

Mr. and Mrs. Patton received with their daughter at the reception.

Mrs. Patton was handsomely gowned in black lace over chiffon, with a toque bouquet. Miss Patton wore a white lace robe over satin, and carried orchids.

The dining-room was decorated in masses of red roses, with a centerpiece of the same flowers, caught with green tulle on the table. About 150 people were present, and the affair was one of the handsomest given in Richmond this season.

To Visit Miss Blinford.

Miss Dorothy Gilpin, of "Kentmere," Clarke county, arrived last night to visit Miss Lillian Blinford at her home, 708 West Grace Street. Miss Gilpin is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gilpin, and will be presented to society in Baltimore next winter.

No German To-Night.

On account of the football game between University of Virginia and North Carolina being canceled the other festivities usually attendant on that event will not be held to-night. The German, which was to have been given in the Jefferson Hotel ballroom to-night in honor of the visiting students, will not take place as had been arranged by the Misses Blinford.

Golden Wedding.

Colonel John D. Taylor, of Wilmington, N. C., and his wife yesterday celebrated their golden wedding. The observance was of a quiet nature, but was nevertheless, exceedingly bright and happy, and the rare occasion was keenly appreciated by the family (Colonel) and Mrs. Taylor received many warm congratulations upon the event.

Hon. and Mrs. A. M. Scales, of Greensboro; Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Borden, of Richmond; and Mrs. E. S. Tennent, of Spartanburg, S. C., were present at the golden event. Mrs. Scales and Mrs. Borden are daughters of Colonel and Mrs. Taylor.

Leave for South Carolina.

Judge and Mrs. Beverly Randolph Wellford, Jr., are in the city, having attended the marriage of their daughter, Miss Sue Seaden, to Dr. Marshall, which took place on Tuesday evening. They leave to-day for Columbia, S. C., to spend the winter.

Bride—Mrs. Inge.

A very pretty event was solemnized at the home of the bride in Lunenburg, near Blackstone, on Tuesday, when Miss Mattie Wilkinson Inge and John L. Birdsong were married. The house was decorated for the occasion, the color scheme being pink and white. Little Misses Emma Gay Birdsong, of Prince George, and Bettie Sue Bailey, of Lunenburg, held the ribbons, and wore frocks of white, with pink ribbons. Master Samuel Sherron Inge was license-bearer; also Master Frank Rives Gee bore the ring upon a silver waiter. Samuel Inge and Benjamin Wilkinson acted as ushers. The bride entered with her sister, Miss Mary Sue Inge, maid of honor, who was attired in pink mesaline, and carried pink bridesmaid roses. The bride's gown was white mesaline elaborately embroidered, and her veil was caught with tulle of the valley. Her bridesmaid wore a gown of the valley. Her bridesmaid wore a gown of the valley.

Lawson, to John Augustus McMinn, of Tunstall, Va., was celebrated in the home of the bride's mother, 2011 Hanover Avenue, in the presence of only the relatives and close friends of the families. The parlors were decorated with palms and potted plants. The bride entered with her brother, James R. Lawson, who assisted her in receiving the guests. Mr. McMinn being attended by his friend, R. C. Clifton, of this city, Rev. L. T. Williams, of Ashbury Place Methodist Church, officiating. Mr. and Mrs. McMinn left on the noon train for a trip North.

Swindell—Leake.

The First Presbyterian Church was the scene of a beautiful wedding last night at 8 o'clock, when Miss Catherine Frederica Leake, the charming and accomplished daughter of Mrs. Andrew K. Leake and the late Judge Leake, was married to Frederick Dudley Swindell, son of the late Rev. F. D. and Mrs. Susie Dudley Swindell, of Wilson, N. C., the Rev. F. T. McFadden officiating. To the strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin," exquisitely rendered by Professor Ben Potter, the bride, gowned in white satin, and carrying a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and bride roses, entered the church, with her brother, David H. Leake, who gave her away. At the altar, which was artistically banked with palms and evergreens, she was met by the groom and his best man, Dr. Chas. L. Swindell. Miss Margaret Leake, gowned in violet mesaline and carrying a shower bouquet of violets, attended her sister as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Misses Ella McCraw, Frances Boykin, Eliza Leake and Louise Harris, who wore white mesaline dresses, and carried bunches of white chrysanthemums. Little Misses Cleland Harris and Virginia Chenshaw, wearing dainty lingeer frocks, and carrying baskets of flowers, were flower girls. The groomsmen were Messrs. Walter A. Leake, Charles L. Leake, Argyle Turner and Ben Smith. After the ceremony the bridal party and a small number of relatives and friends were tendered a reception in the home of the bride, 1302 Grove Avenue. The bride and groom will be at home after December 10 at Wilson, N. C.

Society women are interested in noting that a dinner dance is now considered a smarter medium of introducing acquaintances to the time honored afternoon reception. One large dance or a series of three or four small ones may be given, at the choice or discretion of the hostess. At these dances only a sprinkling of older people are invited, as it is especially a youthful affair for the pleasure of the bud and the young girls and men with whom she is particularly intimate.

When a debutante entertainment is given at home, decorations are chiefly remarkable for their simplicity. The favors received by the young woman who is the central figure of the occasion should be arranged in vases and on a buffet table near the entrance, which she takes her stand. The bouquet which she holds in her hands this season shows a return to the day and generation of her grandmother. It is a quaint little nosegay with roses arranged in rows, either of one color, or alternating in light or dark tones. The frill which surrounds it is of lace paper or silk tissue, and streamers of ribbon fall from it to the hem of the gown, such a bouquet when carried by a young woman adapted from the same period is very fetching.

Attention of latter day women is being called to the fact that, with 3,000 gorgeous gowns hanging in her wardrobe, Queen Elizabeth issued a solemn proclamation warning her subjects against extravagance in dress. Her crown jewels were numerous and rare. Only consistency was lacking to render their number complete.

Such an assertion, however, ought to be swallowed with a grain of allowance, for there are opportunities better lost than embraced. Some women, indeed, cannot lose what never comes to them in the guise of opportunity, for a dweller on the mountain top, who can get no views from a mountain top. Again, opportunity remains only a moment and then steals away forever. Next so that the woman who takes her by the hand must be eternally on the alert.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

BY VIRGINIA WESTOVER.

Correspondents are requested to send communications on subjects in which they are interested and regarding which they desire information to the Editor of the Woman's Page.

The Texas Division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy will hold its annual State convention in December. Following closely, as it does, upon the general convention, women throughout the South are all interested in possible and probable developments that may grow out of the issues of that convention.

Society women are interested in noting that a dinner dance is now considered a smarter medium of introducing acquaintances to the time honored afternoon reception. One large dance or a series of three or four small ones may be given, at the choice or discretion of the hostess. At these dances only a sprinkling of older people are invited, as it is especially a youthful affair for the pleasure of the bud and the young girls and men with whom she is particularly intimate.

When a debutante entertainment is given at home, decorations are chiefly remarkable for their simplicity. name and escorted her to the door.

The ability in a woman to distinguish between essentials and non-essentials is a rare gift. The woman who learns self-discipline has blunted the edge of disappointment and removed the poison from the sting of adversity. Of a woman it is asked, how can she be expected to correct her own faults when it takes so much of her time to look after the shortcomings of others? A woman is advised to forget the animosities and cultivate the humanities, as herein lies the whole philosophy of right living.
